Sentinel Lucck Who Shot Down Two Clifzens Receives Unusual Rouser from His Saverelga-Newspapers Criticise the Emperor's Remarkable Action. BEHLIN, May 10 -Several newspapers publish to-day the details of a remarkable scene at the barracks of the Emperor Francis Joseph regiment last Saturday night, when Emperor William was entertained at a banquet In the officers' casino. The Emperor drank freely and spoke of the necessity of a soldier's forgetting during his service that he had any duties except those to his war lord and country. Finally the Emperor called to a private at the entrance:

Call in Lucck. I have something to say to To most of the officers the words were a complete surprise, as Lucck is the sentry who killed one citizen and severely wounded another before the barracks in the Wrangel strasse six weeks ago. The case had been investigated, and Lueck, at the Emperor's instance, had been promoted to be lance corporal. Even among military men the opinion prevailed that the affair should be dropped out of sight as soon as possible, for the shooting and promotion caused a storm of indignation throughout the empire, and several Deputies are known to be ready to raise another storm in the Reichstag on the day when that body reassembles. In the pause which followed the call for Lucek the Emperor ex-plained that he was about to reward the lance corporal for his faithfulness to duty, and wished all the officers present to show exceptional respect for the young man-Lucck entered the officers and guests followed wished all the officers present to show exceptional respect for the young man. When Lucek entered the officers and guests followed the Emperor in rising, and Lucek was ordered to stand facing his sovereign. The Emperor then took his seat, and while the rest stood addressed Lucek thus:

"Lucek, you are a splendid soldier. You maintained, as a sentry of the Third Regiment of the Guards, in the Wrangel strasse the best traditions of my army, its discipline and honor. I hope that every soldier will follow your example on similar occasions, and will have the same clear understanding of his duties toward me, my army, and himself.

"Lucek, you are an honor to your regiment, and your merit shall hat go unrewarded."

The Emperor ordered that a glass of wine be given to Lucek, and all present, under the command of the Emperor, drank to Lucek's health. The Emperor then had his portrait fetched, hearing his autosmaph, and gave it to Lucek. The lance corporal blushed and saluted and was then allowed to retire. This astounding scene was kept secret, as the opinion of all present, even of those sympathizing with the Emperor's sentiments, was that this young war lord had done an exceedingly impolitie net and that the country was hardly to a condition to discuss it calmiy.

The Emperor, however, was apparently determined to let his reciple know his sentiments, for at the parade on the Tempelhofer Feld he unexpectedly appeared on horseback, rode up hetere Lucek's retiment, and called out the young man. He then repeated his commendation of Saturiay night, expressed the hope that Lucek's contrades would prove as faithful to their soldierly duties as had the lance corporal, and closed by nominating Lucek for exemption.

This speech, together with an account of what took place in the officers' casino, was published by the newspapers this morning. The publication, with but rew exceptions, was accompanied with bitter comments upon the Emperor's apparent effort to emphasize his deflance of public opinion. The Vorgerts, Freisinnige Zeal fired, wounding Brandt mortally and Treber severely.

The press is now almost unanimous in demanding that, despite the Emperor's private opinions, the calls of all civilian Germany for a remedy of such fatal abuses be heard by the Government. As soon as the sittings of the Releastag are resumed Eugen Richter. Independent, and August Bebel. Social Democrat, will arraign the Government for the crime of Lucek, and it is expected that they will be gupported by Herr von Bennigsen. National Liberal and Count Ballstrem, Clerical. The independents and Social Democrats with this support will try to compol the Emperor practically to eat his words and approve the reform. Otherwise they hope to organize the majority into an uncompromising opposition to defeat the Government on All questions until a bill shall be proposed which will provide for the punishment of such crimes as Lucek's.

ATTACKING THE JEWS.

Strikers in Poland Kill Several of Them-Eussian Troops Called to the Scene. VIENNA May 10 - Further details have been received of the attack on the Jews by a mob of strikers at Lodz, Poland, seventy-five miles from Warsaw. The Polish people of Lodz have been for some time jealous of the increasing number of Jews in the linen and woollen mills. Many of these were from the interior of Russia having been driven from their former homes by persecution, and they were willing to work for very low wages. This was one of the

During Passover week some enemies of the Jews circulated the report that they had stolen and murdered a Christian child in the course ef the Passover ceremonies. This report was not believed by the intelligent, but it created great excitement among the ignorant. When the strike began the Jews continued at work, and this increased the irritation against them for a long time it has been customary for the more mailgnant Jew baiters in Lodz and other towns to go about pulling the beards and noses of the Jews. Many of the Jews submitted meetly, unless the pulling was too severe, when they rotalisted, and an incident of this kind is said to have been the immediate cause of the riot at Lodz.

Mone of the strikers, meeting a Hebrew, provoked him to madness, and he resented by making a desperate attack on his persecutor. The latter raised a cry that the Jews were attacking the Christians, and then the strikers to the number of thousands started to make mercliess war on the Hebrews.

The latter defended themselves with the energy of despair, but the strikers had the better of the conflict, and a number of the Hebrews were killed, as well as several of their assailants. The Russian troops, who were called to the scene, favored the rioters, and the latter continued to carry on the attack until wearied out with the struggle. Much property was destroyed. Swinburne's Tragedy. LONDON. May 10.-Swinburne's tragedy. Thursday, is dedicated to his aunt, Lady Mary Gordon. The scene is laid in Northumberland, in the year 1816. There are six characters, all rustics. The piece contains much lovemaking, and is in no way a serious study, it is interspersed with many beautiful songs. It is said that Swinburne intends to have this piece nut on the stage in New York, desiring, it would seem, to enter the field so successfully invaded by Tennyson.

PRINCIPAL STEINSON'S TEACHERS.

Their Charges Against Him and His Against

Four different sets of charges and countercharges, growing out of the dispute between Principal George Steinson of the Fourth ward primary school in Long Island City, were read at the special meeting of the Board of Education of that city, held in the City Hall last night, where an investigation into the trouble was begun. Commissioner J. Larkin, President of the Board, presided. Among the spectators who crowded the room were Charles W. Brace and William Maskiell, who had Mr. Steinson a -rested, accusing him of attempting to shoot them one night last week. Miss Carrie A. Hayes, Miss Ella R. Bragan, and Miss Fannie J. Kelly, the teachers who made the charges against Steinson, sat near the door. He is 361 years old, tall, with light hair and a reddish against Steinson, sat near the door. He is any years old, tall, with light hair and a reddish beard and moustache.

The first charges made were read by Miss Hayes, in which she accused him of having called her a fish woman. The principal had accused her of striking his thyear-old child. Edith A. Steinson. She denied having struck the child. In the controversy, she alleges, the principal threatened to deprive her of her class, and she replied that she was engaged by the Board of Education.

A set of charges signed by the three teachers characterized the principals addity conduct as a series of potty tyrannies. He censured them hefore the whole school, and also, they say, distributed marked copies of a newspaper among the pupils containing an article unfit to be read by children. He also said they didn't know how to teach and were better litted for cooks in a scullery in some New York restaurant. Further than this, they say, he compared them to fish women, and informed them their fathers' pull would soon be broken. The charges also assert that he made insulting and indecent speeches before the school; that he made false promises, and that he told the children they could not be blamed for had conduct when they had a bad example set them by the teachers.

he told the children they could not be blamed for had conduct when they had a bad example set them by the teachers.

Then Principal Steinson's charges against the teachers were rend, in which he says Miss Ella R. Bragan ordered him around before the schools unheld her in this conduct.

Following this came the charges made by Superintendent Pardee in which he accuses Principal Steinson of usurping the authority of the Board of Education in closing hisschool without authority; of insubordination, untruthfulness, and incompetency.

This finished the charges and then the investigation was opened. Miss Hayes was the first witness. She is about 10 years old and has taught school for three years. She gave testimony to substantiate the charges. Miss kelly testified that she knew the principal was going to make charges against them from the manner in which he went seaking and spying about the school. She heard the principal tell Miss Hayes she was better fitted for a fish woman. Hd told her that her father's pull would soon be broken. Miss Bragan swore she made the charges herself with the assistance of Miss Kelly and Miss Hayes. In answer to a question by Mr. Steinson, she said she believed all the pages of the charges as written by her were still there, although she understood that Mr. Steinson himself had access to them.

The investigation will be continued.

CRITICISING THE POPE.

LONDON, May 10 .- A well-informed Paris corespondent declares that the Pope is putting the patience of French Catholics to a very severe test by his coercion of the Monarchist party. The great majority of the Catholic laymen, as well as of the prelates, are anti-Republicans, the existing regime being regarded as adverse to the Interests of the Church. The adverse to the interests of the Church. The feeling of anxiety caused by the Pope's earlier utterances in favor of reconciliation with the existing Government, has been aggravated by the more recent encyclical and brief into a state of mind bordering upon revolt. Monsignor d'Hulst, a new!y elected member of the Chamber from Brest, said to-day that the authority of the Pope is only absolute in matters connected with dogma and religion: that he is failible like other men when he trenches upon other ground. For more than a century no Pope has interfered with so much violence to order a party to abandon its past renounce its hopes, and betray its political faith. The encyclical and the brief in which the Legitimists and imperialists were peremptorily ordered to abandon their hopes of a political reform were acts of extraordinary pressure, almost of oppression. Monsignor d'Hulst added that while the Pope was at liberty to assume an opportunist attitude if he saw fit to do so, nobody was obliged by his duty as a Catholic to obey his commands in this respect, or to follow his example. The fact that d'Hulst is an Archbishop and rector of a Catholic institute, attracts universal attention to his remarks, and it is confidently expected that the Pope will adopt some striking means of signifying his displeasure at the monsignor's utterances. feeling of anxiety caused by the Pope's earlier

The Coming War with Dahomey.

Paris, May 10.—Advices from Porto Novo say that great anxiety is felt for the arrival of more reenforcements. M. Ballay, the Governor of French Guinea, has arrived at Kotonou with sixty Senegalese, who have been despatched to the most threatened points. The packet Ville de Ceara is expected with about 130 native troops and a score of French marines, but she can hardly reach Kotonou before the 25th. An officer of great experience has just expressed the opinion that nothing will be done until an army of 3,500 men is sent out to try conclusions with king Behanzin. Supported by a few companies of marines and of the foreign legion, the Benegalians, Spahls, Turcos, and native soldiers would soon vanquish the Dahomeyan forces, and, if the monarchy were everthrown and the people freed from a despotic tyranny, France could count on their gratitude and cooperation ever afterward. Meanwhile the Dahomeyans continue to intrench themselves before Kotonou, and are constructing a road leading to Lake Denham. she can hardly reach Kotonou before the 25th.

CONNECTICUT DEMOCRATS. They Hend Uninstructed De egisten to the Chicago Convention.

NEW HAVEN, May 10 .- The Democratic State Convention was called to order in the Hyperion Theatre at 10 o'clock this morning by Clinton B. Davis, Chairman of the State Central Committee. Judge Walsh of New Britain was then introduced as temporary Chairman. Judge Walsh made a speech of half an hour's duration.

He said that the delegates ought to go untrammelled and unpledged by any instructions or conditions, and if so, the Convention could predict that their choice would be overwhelmingly approved at the polls at the November election. Gen. F. F. Bradley of New Haven was chosen permanent Chairman. He was escorted to the platform by ex-Congressman Vance and E. C. Benedlet of Greenwich, and was introduced by Mr. Vance. Mr. Vance said: "The story of the Republican party in recent years has been the story of class legislation. With the Republican record in this State, it years has been the story of class legislation. With the Republican record in this State, it seems but arrant hypocrisy for Republicans to mourn over the assumed suppression of votes in the South."

Gen. Bradiey then quoted statistics to show that the Constitution of 1818 gave a fair representation to all sections of the State in its day, and then quoted further statistics taken from recognized authorities to show the necessity for a radical change. He said: "If the figures which lately appeared in the public press are correct, the 113 Democrats in the House of Representatives were cleeted by 13, 122 votes, while the 134 Republicans were elected by only 43, 280 votes.

"We should not lose sight," he continued, of the fact that for nearly a year and a half men have been occupying the executive offices and exercising full power and authority in them who were not the candidates of any political party at the last State election. That such a state of affairs can exist is evidence that we need a new constitution, not a revision of the old, not an amending, but a legally constituted convention to frame a charter that shall make them free in fact as well as in name. Remember that State officers, fairly and legally closeted, have been kept out of their offices for sixteen months, and may never, perhaps, be allowed to ill them. Let us demand a Constitutional Convention that shall frame and submit for adoption to the people of this State a new constitution, which shall give equal and exact justice to every. Nominations for delegates at large were then called for, and the selections made at the Congressional district and county caucuses last night were announced and ratified by a unanimous vote in every case. The delegates at large are Alvin P. Ryde of Hartford, Charles French of Seymour, James B. Shannon of Norwich, and E. B. Benedict of Greenwich.

"Mr. William S. Pardee of New Haven then reported the platform, which was adopted with a shoat.

Its viction machinery has broken down, its representation is unjust, its providens are cummingly devised to bring uninorities into power, and are filled with distrust of the electors as the legitimate sowereign roling power of the commonwealth. The movement of the anti-snappers in Brooklyn may be regarded as having reached its climax last night, when alleged primaries were held in the various wards and towns for the choice of thirty-six delegates and a like number of alternates to the Syracuse Convention. anti-snap managers arranged that the delegates and alternates should be chosen directly by the voters and the primaries instead of, in accordance with the time-honored Democratic custom, at the Assembly conventions.

Although the Executive Committeemen had announced that the total roll of anti-snappers in the county reached the formidable proportions of over 11,000, the highest number of votes recorded last night in any ward was 52, and this great showing occurred in the Twentieth ward, which is regarded as the stronghold of the anti-snappers in the county. As an illustration of the character of the entire movement, it is only necessary to point out that the names of the delegates and alternates alleged to have been elected last night were published nearly a week ago in the Eagle. DEATH OF JOHN W. BRECKINRIDGE. The Brilliant but Dissipated Son of a Famous Kentucktun.

BAN FRANCISCO, May 10 .- A special from Merced says: John W. Breckinridge, son of the famous Kentuckian, John C. Breckinridge, who was Vice-President under Buchanan, die there late last night. It is said that Breckinridge died from injections of morphine administered by a doctor. He had been drinking heavily for months. He was only 43, but he was prematurely old through dissipation. When he came to California, about eight years ago, Mr. Breckinridge was received with open arms by leading Southern families. He soon married the daughter of Lloyd Tevis, President of Wells, Fargo & Co., and a twenty times millionaire. Tevis gave Breck-inridge charge of his large ranches near Merced, and he lived like a Southern planter. He became a great favorito with the cowboys on the Texas ranches, and soon fell into drinking and gambling habits. His wife thred of this life, and returning to her home, began suit for divorce on the grounds of intemperance and cruelty. Breekinridge was too proud to make a contest, and the divorce was granted.

Accident led the Kentuckian to take up the law which he had studied before coming out here. One of his cowboys got into trouble and Breekinridge defended him so well that he secured an acquittal. He soon had more business than any lawver in Merced county. He was elected to the State Logislature, and could have gone to Congress had it not been that a personal friend ran in his district. His career seemed made when drink again seized him. About this time his wife was reported engaged to Fred Sharon, son of the Silver Senator. Breckinridge swore he would kill Sharon, who, he thought, had urged her to get a divorce. Sharon was privately married to the lady, and left San Francisco at once.

A few months ago Breckinridge created a sensation here by appearing at Lloyd Tevis's house and demanded to see his three children, who had been adopted by Tevis. When admittance was denied him he swore he would shoot Tevis, and the millionaire had a bodyguard for several days. Breckinridge had many friends here. eed, and he lived like a Southern planter. He said that he had been making up a syndicate of Englishmen who would like to invest some capital in distilleries. He kent his word, and every creditor was paid in full, those in America being paid first, and then those in foreign countries. In 1838 he was a member of the Massachusetts Legislature, and in 1853 and '54 was a member of the State Senate.

BAD ECZEMA ON BABY.

Head One Solid Sore. Itching Awful. Had to Tie His Hands to Cradle. Cured by Cutleura.

Our little boy broke out on his head with a bas form of eczena when he was four months old. We tried three doctors, but they did not help him. We then used your three CUTI-CURA REMEDIES, and after using them eleven weeks exactly according to directions, he began to steadily impreve, and after the use of them for seven months his head was entirely well. When we legan using it his head was a solid sore from the crown to his eyobrows. It was also all over his ears, most of his face, and small places on different parts of his body. There were sixteen weeks that we had to keep his hands tied to the cradle and hold them when he was taken up; and had to keep mittens tied on his hands to keep his flager nalls out of the sores, as he would scratch if he could in any way get his hands loose. We know your CUTICURA REMEDIES cured him. We feel safe in recommending them to others.

WESTERN TRAFFIC ASSOCIATION.

Full Attendance at the Meeting Yester my-The Charges Against the C., B, and Q. Only the Union Pacific and Great Northern rallways were without representatives at the meeting yesterday, at the Windsor Hotel, of the Advisory Board of the Western Traffic Association. Some comment was made on the absence of President Perkins of the Chicago, Barlington and Quincy, because one of the most important questions before the meeting was the appeal of that company from the decision of the Commissioners on the complaint that it had cut through rates on wool. A motion to reverse this decision was lost, and the charge of rate cutting is thereby sustained. By the terms of the association this conviction should be followed by the prompt dismissal of the official who authorized the cut, as was done in the case of Mr. Leeds of the Missouri bit interest to the Board, President Olyphant said:

"If the Delaware and Hudson managers had not thought it decidedly for the interests of the company that these gentlemen should be reesented on our Board they could not have been elected. Their presence in it will insure harmony in the relations of our company with the New York Central, which cannot but be to the advantage of both." This reply is strictly in accord with the views expressed by Mr. Olyphant when the subject of a Vanderfell representation in the management of the company has been discussed.
